DEDICATION

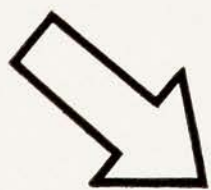

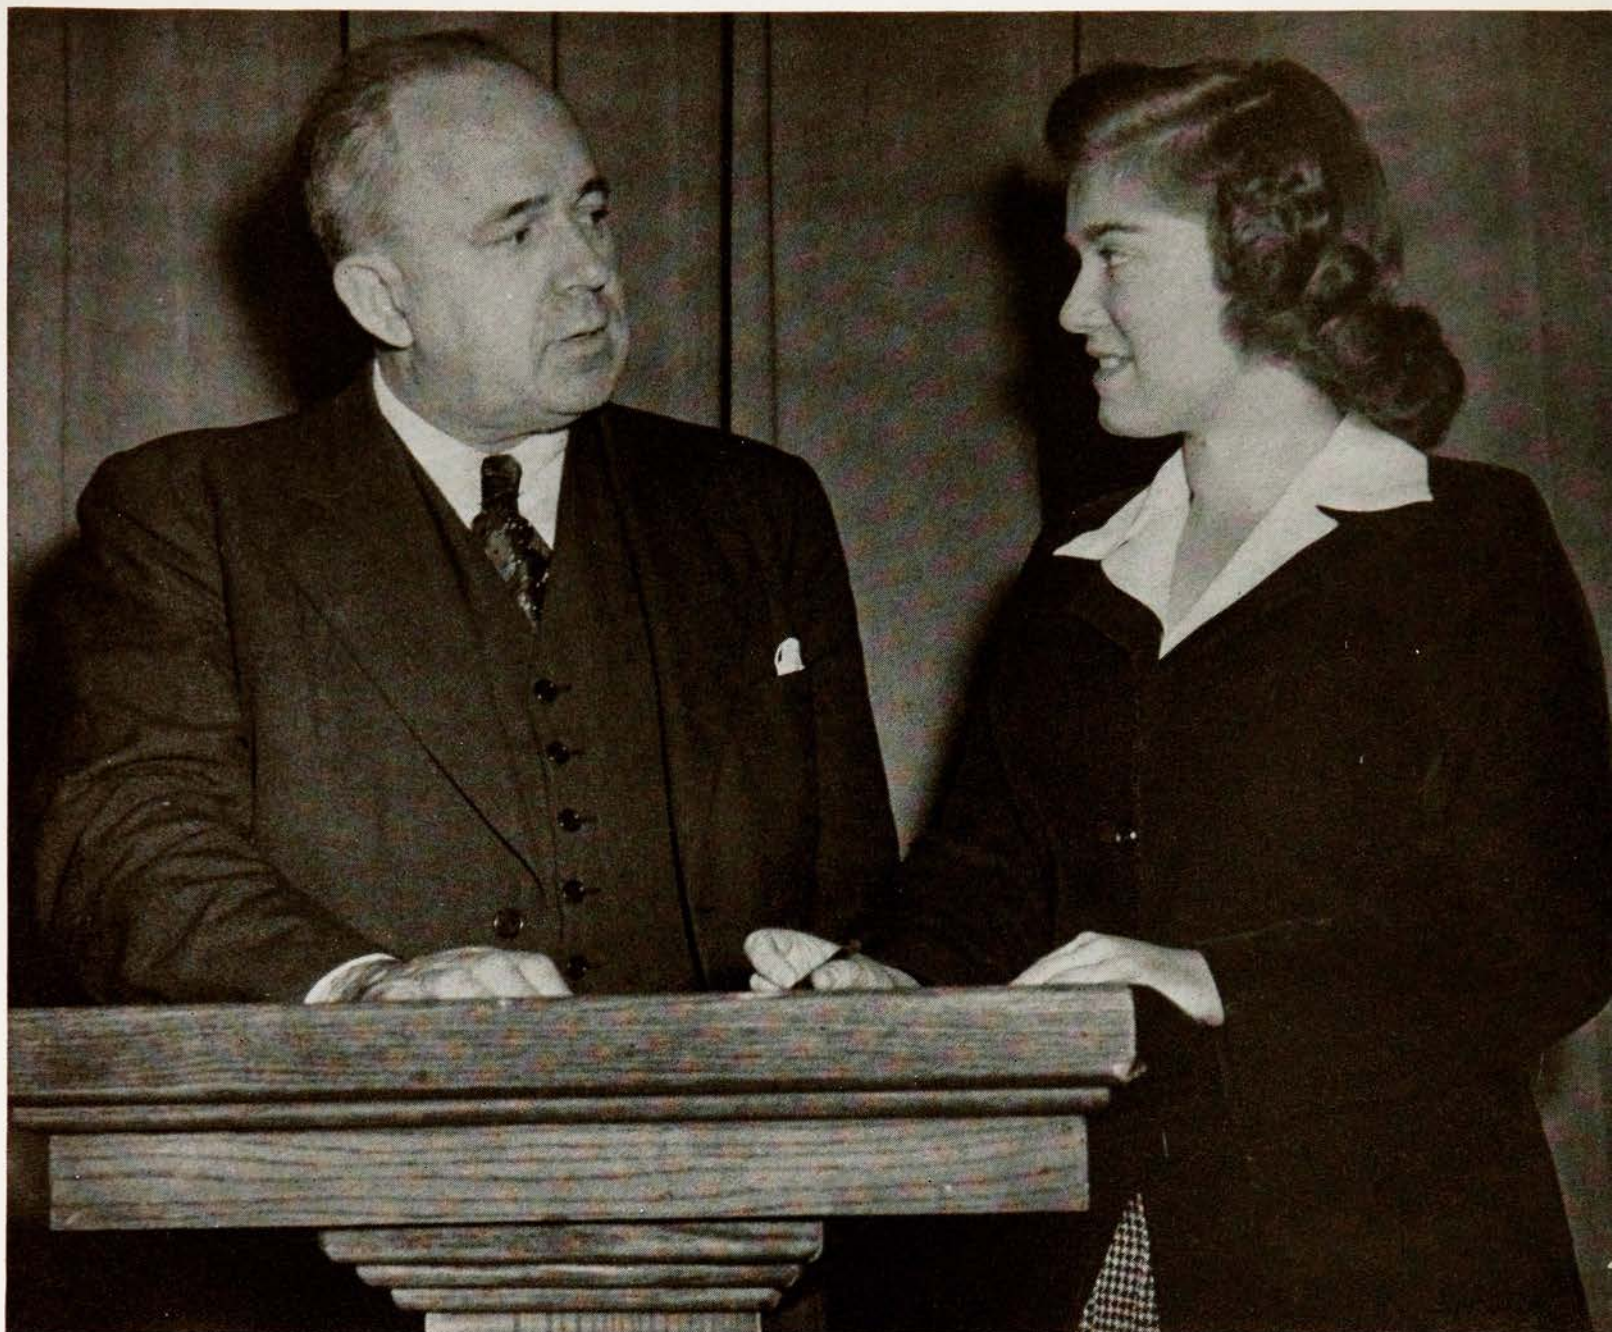

To Dr. A. Curtis Wilgus, educator, author, and friend, in appreciation of his service to the University, and in recognition of his achievements in the Inter-American world, the staff is proud to dedicate the 1945 "Cherry Tree."

Professor Wilgus, who has taught and lectured in thirty colleges and universities in the United States, was appointed in 1930 to the Chair of Hispanic American History at the George Washington University. He served as Chairman of the Columbian College from 1932 to 1934 and was organizer and first Director of the Center of Inter-American Studies, 1932 to 1937. Dr. Wilgus's friendly manner and informal approach, together with his superior knowledge of his field, never fail to arouse in his students respect and admiration for him and enthusiasm for his subject.

Dr. Wilgus is an outstanding figure in many Latin-American and educational circles. He has been President since 1935 of the Inter-American Bibliographical and Library Association, delegate to several Pan American Conferences, and has also served in the United States Office of Education and the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs. Professor Wilgus has written or edited almost thirty works relating to Latin America, and is a contributor to periodicals, books, and encyclopedias. Listed in the "International Who's Who" and in "Who's Who in America," and honored by numerous Latin-American societies, Dr. Wilgus was awarded the Medalla de Honor de la Instruccion Publica by President Gomez of Venezuela.

War and Faith

This is a time for faith in life. Each one of us has heard the cry, "If I could understand the malignancy called war, I might have faith. I cannot see where we are going, and hence I cannot have faith."

This is false reasoning. Faith is the "evidence of things unseen." Even though you do not understand the blooming of the rose, you accept the flower. Tennyson wrote:

"If I could understand

What you are, root and all, and all in all,

I should know what God and man is."

The vandalism of the storm or the destruction of war is no more reason for the loss of faith than the phenomenon of the bursting bud. We understand little of either.

So let us not be confused. If we believe in our fellow men, we shall be triumphant, for the overtones of the high beating, ever yearning, human heart shall overcome the screaming shell and put down the bludgeonings of war.

C O U N C I L . . .

Under the leadership of Lois Smith and Jimmy Huddleston, the Student Council performed well its functions of student government. In addition to its regulatory capacity, the Council sponsored numerous social, educational, and charitable events for all-University participation.

The Council opened its social year by giving the Freshmen Mixer to enable entering students to get acquainted. The Mount Vernon Hunt Ball at the Shoreham Hotel, highlighted by the crowning of the "Cherry Tree" Beauty Queen, featured a group of dancers from Orchesis who performed a quadrille reminiscent of Mount Vernon days. Four Buff 'n' Blue (dry Nite Club) Dances were held during the year including one on February 9, the date the University was founded. Other Council-sponsored social activities included the George Washington Birthday Ball and an All-University Sing, an event revived after several years' inactivity.

A Wednesday Evening Lecture Series was sponsored by the Student Council. Speakers included several University professors and men outstanding in business and political circles. The lectures were of general interest to students and included such topics as "The Prospects for Peace in the Far East," and "Medicine in Aviation."

Several charity drives were held during the year—one for the Community War Fund; another for the National Symphony Orchestra Fund; toys for children at the Barney Neighborhood House and the Georgetown Settlement House were collected. The Cherry Blossom Drive was continued to provide a scholarship for a student in the School of Government; and a drive to raise money for the World Student Service Fund was initiated on the campus. The students contributed generously to the fund; the newly organized Freshman Class gave the proceeds from its festival to it and the Student Council donated the profit from its George Washington Birthday Ball.

The Student Council year culminated in the initiation of conferences with the Administration, the faculty and the students. The first session amicably settled the much-publicized basketball problem, and other conferences were scheduled to consider the revival of the Sociology Department, dramatics, and the institution of religious education classes.

STUDENT LIFE COMMITTEE

The Committee on Student Life serves as the judicial branch of the George Washington's system of student government. In this capacity, the Committee is active in determining policy concerning the recognition and conduct of extra-curricular organizations, the establishment of new organizations on campus, and the eligibility of candidates for Student Council offices. An additional function of the Student Life Committee is to resolve differences of opinion which may arise between campus organizations.

All eyes were on the Class of '45 during Senior Week in May. The activities which climaxed their life at the University were planned by their energetic class officers. The Seniors were scheduled to enjoy Class Night, complete with banquet and prom, on May twenty-fifth, the Baccalaureate Service at the Washington Cathedral the following Sunday, and the reception given them by President and Mrs. Marvin. Convocation on May thirtieth left the Seniors with a new appreciation for George Washington University and its "Alma Mater" . . .

Hail, Alma Mater!
To thy spirit guiding
Pledge we fidelity,
By thy name abiding.
Armoured in courage,
Ne'er from battle hiding,
Fearless—each loyal son.

For through the darkness
Like a lamp is shining
Knowledge, thy handmaid,
In her strength combining
With lofty brotherhood,
Ne'er her place resigning.
Hail, thee, George Washington!

For, as thy patron
Midst the battle's dinning,
Clear-eyed and fearless
Saw his forces winning,
So for the war of life
Which we are beginning
Arm us, George Washington.

Some of the Sophomores

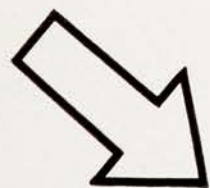

Excitement ran high this fall as University freshmen, for the first time in ten years, elected class officers and organized a freshman calendar. After a heated campaign complete with formal balloting, posters, and hand-bills, the officers were announced at the Mt. Vernon Hunt Ball.

Upon the appointment of Eddie Wadden as program chairman, Harold Hogan as social chairman, and Mary Dickson as publicity director, plans were made for an active spring social season. On Freshman Day, February 2, an assembly was held in Lisner Auditorium followed by a dance in the Student Club. The proceeds from the Freshman Festival given in May went to the Red Cross and the year ended with a gala Freshman Prom.

"Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" is published annually with the cooperation of over six hundred institutions throughout the country. Students selected for listing in this volume are representative of the outstanding personalities in their respective schools. The required qualities for nomination and final listing are character, scholarship, leadership in extracurricular activities, and the possibility of future usefulness to business and society.

The students representing the George Washington University are selected by a committee made up of members of the faculty and the student body with the registrar acting as chairman. The committee remains anonymous and acts on suggestion from "The Hatchet" and from student leaders.

CHERRY TREE BEAUTY CONTEST

The annual Cherry Tree Beauty Queen Contest highlighted the Mt. Vernon Hunt Ball which was held November 11, 1944, at the Shoreham Hotel. Mary Whittlesey, representing Chi Omega Sorority, was chosen Cherry Tree Beauty Queen by three judges from the United States Navy Photo Science Laboratory. The runners up were Lucile Flanagan of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Sara Bohannon of Alpha Delta Pi. The staff congratulates the judges—Harry Ray, former makeup man for Paramount Studios, William C. Kennedy, a Washington artist and a member of the jury for the selection of "Miss Washington," and George Snowden, photographic specialist—on their splendid choices.

Phi Beta Kappa, founded in 1776, is a national honor society recognizing "outstanding intellectual capacity well employed" in the field of liberal arts and sciences. Senior and junior students who are candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science in Columbian College (in exceptional cases, senior and junior students in other non-professional divisions of the University) and who have shown broad cultural interests, distinguished scholarly achievement, high character, general promise, and scholarly ideals may, to a number not exceeding 15 per cent of a class, be elected to membership by the Faculty members of the Alpha Chapter of the District of Columbia.

OFFICERS

FLORENCE GUILD NIXON	President	EDITH NORRIS	Secretary
MARTHA SEABROOK	Vice-President	CAROLYN LYON	Treasurer
FLORENCE MARIE MEARS	Faculty Adviser

Alpha Lambda Delta members are selected from the women of the freshman class who have completed fifteen semester hours with an average of 3.5 or higher. Their purpose is to promote intelligent living and a higher standard of learning and to encourage superior scholastic attainment among the freshman women. Each year the senior class member of this organization who has attained the highest scholastic average for four years receives a book at class night from the national chapter.

Phi Eta Sigma was founded at the University of Illinois in 1923 to encourage and reward high scholarship. It is composed of freshman men who attain a scholastic average of at least 3.5. In addition to the annual initiation, a tea is given in conjunction with the women's organization, Alpha Lambda Delta, to honor the incoming high school scholarship winners.

Mortar Board is composed of senior women who are elected to membership at the end of their junior year on the basis of outstanding service to the University, scholarship, and leadership. The purpose of this organization is "to provide for cooperation between societies, to promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, to maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman."

During the past year four Apple Polishing Luncheons were held honoring the faculty members of the departments of English, History, Languages and Physical Education for Women. These luncheons are prepared and served by the members and enable students and professors to mingle in an informal atmosphere.

Mortar Board again sponsored the Big-Little Sisters which was organized a year ago to better acquaint freshman girls with the University and its activities. Members of Mortar Board also staffed an Information desk during registration to help with the many questions which arise at that time. During the Christmas season, the group sponsored a toy drive for the Barney Neighborhood House and helped with the Christmas party at the Georgetown Settlement House.

Iota Sigma Pi was organized to promote interest in chemistry among women students, to foster mutual advancement in academic, business, and social life, and to stimulate personal accomplishments in chemical fields.

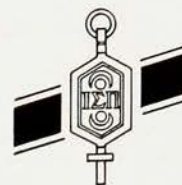

To be eligible for membership a girl must have a B average and must have completed twenty hours of chemistry. Pledging is at the end of each semester and initiation takes place in the spring. Meetings are held once a month with guest speakers and a unique lab supper is held annually.

Xi chapter of Sigma Tau was organized on the George Washington campus in 1921 to promote scholarship, sociability and practicability in the engineering school. The members are composed of engineering students in their junior or senior years who rank in the upper third of their group scholastically and who have demonstrated sociability and practicability in their college activities. At the annual spring banquet the freshman engineering student who has the highest standing in his class is awarded a medal. The members of Sigma Tau maintain a tutoring class for engineering students and are working for the establishment of a graduate engineering school at George Washington.

The purpose of this organization is to stimulate an interest in foreign service, foreign commerce, and related international fields. After a year and one-half of inactivity on campus, the fraternity is again becoming an active campus organization. Eta Chapter this year sponsored a lecture series by prominent speakers on topics of international interest, it being the aim of the fraternity to promote a better understanding of the problems and decisions that must be met in the post-war world and an appreciation of the part that the United States must play.

Delta Phi Epsilon, founded at Georgetown in 1920, was the first national professional foreign service and foreign commerce fraternity in the United States. It now boasts nine active chapters in the country.

Chi Upsilon was organized for the purpose of giving women in the Geology Department an opportunity to get together and, by a definite program of activities, to stimulate greater interest in the many phases of the science of geology. The yearly program includes field trips conducted by professional geologists or members of the National Park Service and a series of winter lectures open to all students of the University who may be interested. One of the foremost aims of Chi Upsilon is the furtherance of high standards of scholarship among the women of the University, and to this end, Epsilon Chapter has offered each year a prize to the outstanding woman student in Geology.

The program of the past year included an interesting illustrated lecture given by Dr. Henry E. Lorentz on the magnolia, cypress and Middleton gardens in South Carolina and the Yellowstone National Park. The sorority's song, "Chi Upsilon," was introduced at a dinner meeting on Founders' Day. The words of the song were written by a member of Epsilon Chapter, Beatrice Raw.

The Engineers' Council, consisting of eleven members—two representatives from each engineering society and fraternity, and one delegate at large—coordinates engineering activities.

This year the council renewed the tradition of having a campus Christmas tree. At the presentation ceremony the glee clubs sang carols, after which President Marvin made an acceptance speech and pressed the button to light the tree.

In place of the usual mid-year mixer, the council sponsored a joint meeting of all the engineering societies and fraternities. The Annual Engineers' Ball, held at the Wardman Park on March tenth, was very successful. During the intermission the council introduced an ingenious electrical device.

The ASME publication, "Mechanical Engineering," is distributed regularly to all members.

During the past year the ASME on this campus conducted a poll to discover specific engineering interests among its members. The purposes of the International Students Society are to promote a cultural association and to foster a better understanding among the foreign students representing the many countries of the world at the University.

The members include foreign students, students whose parents were born abroad, and American students who are interested in the purpose of the society. The number of American students must not exceed twenty-five per cent of the active membership and no country can be represented twice among the officers.

Meetings are held every third Tuesday at International House where afternoon teas or evening parties are planned. The outstanding functions of the social season were a Hallowe'en masquerade party and a gala Christmas celebration. With a membership of over four hundred fifty, the Columbian Women of the George Washington University now look forward to their fifty-second year. Founded by Miss Mary Charlotte Priest in 1894, the purposes of the organization are "promotion of acquaintance-ship among its members, advancement of women by the founding of scholarships in the various departments of the university, and promotion of the interests of the university." The society offers membership to alumnae, students of the university, wives of members of the faculty, trustees, and officers of the university, and recipients of honorary degrees.

Phi Delta Delta, an International Legal Sorority, founded in 1911, held its annual Founder's Day Banquet at the Sulgrave Club. Members of all of the active chapters in the District of Columbia joined with the alumnae to celebrate this occasion. Zeta Chapter, installed at George Washington in 1918, presented two outstanding women attorneys—Nadine Gallagher, President of the District of Columbia Women's Bar Association, and Lucille Loman, law clerk to Mr. Justice Douglas of the United States Supreme Court—for the evening's program. Early this year Zeta Chapter conceived the idea of holding joint forum meetings at regular intervals with the other Washington chapters of Phi Delta Delta. The first of these meetings proved the innovation a success. The speaker was Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, whose subject was "Labor in the Postwar World: the Role of the Woman Attorney."

Under the leadership of Stuart Beatson the Interfraternity Council conducted the most successful fraternity rushing period since 1941 with eighty-two men balloting. This was an increase of thirty-three per cent over the 1943 pledging. The Council made its first constructive steps toward more rigid rules governing the rush period. Definite rushing rules were established and penalties fixed for failure to comply with the regulations.

In red letters on the Interfraternity Council's calendar for this year were Dean Kayser's informal talk on the spirit of fraternities at the annual all-stag smoker, the raising of funds for the underprivileged children's Christmas party in conjunction with the Pan-Hellenic Council and the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, and the traditional Interfraternity Ball.

The purpose of the Interfraternity Council is to cultivate a closer relationship, to promote scholarship, and to encourage student activities among the fraternities established at George Washington University. Vested in the Council are the power and authority to govern, regulate, supervise, and coordinate the relations and activities in which the member fraternities participate as a group. The Council awards trophies each year for scholarship, basketball, golf, tennis, bowling, baseball, ping-pong, and the Song-fest.

"Telephone's ringing, telephone's ringing!" "Sigma Chi domicile." So goes the familiar answer as Frank "Sinatra" Bowdon, Steele Hays, Larry "Politician" Strickland fight their way to the phone . . . Before studying is resumed again Prexy Jim Charrier suggests going to the Sigs' favorite haunt, "B's."

Not all time is play time, for the Sigs have won more than an average share of cups and honors this year. Among them are the cup for winning the "Cherry Tree" subscription contest, and the Touchdown Club's annual outstanding Intramural Athletic cup won by halfback Lloyd Price . . . Lloyd carried his athletic ability from the gridiron to the basketball courts and bowling alleys . . . He even tripped the light fantastic in " . . . and the Home of the Brave." Not to be forgotten for their Herculean ability are Berry Barnes, Pat O'Rourke, Dick McCormick, and Frank Bowdon. Beau Brummel Gene Spears not only leads the Freshman class but also finds time to work at the Capitol . . . Larry Strickland is found daily at the Cue and Curtain and "Hatchet" offices.

The Sig social whirl included the customary exchange dances . . . Their hard-time party gave everyone a chance to go hayseed . . . The second Constantine dinner at the Statler and the Christmas formal at Hotel 2400 were successful . . . Pearl crosses can still be seen around the girls' necks.

Convenient and homey is the Sigs' new house . . . Pledges and actives worked all summer painting and redecorating it . . . Bill Brownrigg added originality with his window sign . . . No matter who, where, or what they are, the Sigs will always carry on the traditions of strength and loyalty to the buff and blue.

"Home is what you make it," so the Kappa Alphas redecorated in January, and added more life and color with a party every Saturday night . . . Favorite spot for any KA is still in front of the fire singing the familiar tune "Kappa Alpha Rose."

Although most of the fellows are carrying on the KA spirit on another front, the ones at home are also doing their part . . . Frank Tutwiler was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and is doing fellowship work for an Eastern drug company . . . Jack Ragsdale published some of his literary work . . . Tony Pritchard, former president of the Interfraternity Council, is president of ODK.

Welcoming home servicemen is the Kappa Alphas' contribution to the war effort . . . Lt. Allan Dancy, all bemedaled after completing thirty-three missions as the lead plane navigator for a B-24 squadron, was given the good old handshake and a traditional party.

Official fraternity functions were the annual convocation on Robert E. Lee's birthday, January 19, a joint dance with Beta Kappa chapter of Maryland University, and the spring formal . . . What the KA's are really planning for is the party when all of them return to the homestead at 3147 Sixteenth Street.

Phi Sigma Kappa led all fraternities in the number of men pledged during Rush Week. Social activities, though limited because of the war, can none the less be entertaining . . . To prove this the Phi Sigs started off with the Liberty Belle Dance and chose May Queen Mera Riddell as their entry in the nation-wide contest . . . In December the Phi Sigs furnished the orchestra, refreshments and entertainment for the All-University Charity Ball . . . Contributions received at the door were given to the children's Christmas party.

Reminiscing over the past year the Phi Sigs think of the Hallowe'en costume dance . . . entertaining Cue and Curtain after " . . . And the Home of the Brave" . . . the Pilgrim spirit at the Thanksgiving dance . . . the unforgettable Sigma Kappa chicken dinner . . . goats throwing a football through the window.

Around the campus one can always see Joe Vivari hunting for talent for the Buff and Blues or dashing to Interfraternity Council meetings. All-American Hal Kiesel was welcomed back from twenty-seven months in England and France . . . Wherever they are the members of Lambda Chapter are serving with true Phi Sig spirit.

The blue diamond of Rho of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was shining brightly at campus functions this year . . . Bill Gregory kept track of the minutes and finances of the Freshman class . . . Dick Generelly was seen at the "Hatchet" office and in addition helped to make arrangements for the Buff 'n' Blues . . . The campus is still humming Thomas Phillips' new song, "Without Your Love," which was introduced at the Founder's Day Dance . . . Bill Long in addition to his presidential duties kept his finger in the Veteran's Club . . . George Conrad divided his time between Student Council meetings and the School of Engineering . . . Stu Beatson presided at the Interfraternity Council and in between meetings could be found at the "Hatchet" office keeping his circulation desk in order.

Highlights we'll remember were rush week with famous "Flack's Flophouse" with the singing waiters and tallow-dripped bottles

. . . The traditional Bal Boheme at the Potomac Yacht Club . . . The gals and fellows in their gingham and jeans from ten to early morning . . . The hilarious time at Bert Awalt's Christmas party which began by everyone wrapping Christmas packages for the Naval Hospital . . . The gala New Year's Eve with pledges, actives, and alumni celebrating by singing "Violets" at the stroke of midnight . . . The hour dances with orchids and the "Greek Fems."

The pledge class of seventeen led by the athlete Hugh Logsdon, had an easy time except for getting lunches, and for the woes of hell week . . . Will they ever forget the scavenger hunt at three o'clock? . . . If Hugh paused, Harold Hogan would always come forth with some of his boogie woogie . . . The Irish brogues in the corner were none other than Jim O'Brien and Bill Gregory. All this and more was the life at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house.

The year 1944-45 was a great one for Phi Alpha. To celebrate the chapter's thirtieth anniversary on October 14, a dinner dance was held at Hotel 2400. . . . Dr. David Davis, founder and Dean Elmer Louis Kayser were to be found at the speaker's table.

On the activities front we find Don Balfour either in the editor's office of the "Hatchet" or balancing the budgets for Student Council or Cue and Curtain. The fellow buried in the sport's page twirling his chain is none other than Mervin Lewis, sports editor of the "Hatchet," the mental push behind the "Informals", and pledge master. Not to be forgotten is Herbert Halberstadt, known for his line of chatter and his work on the "Cherry Tree" and "Hatchet."

Those who were socially inclined cannot forget the pledge affair at Henderson's Castle, George Kruger's surprise party, and Brother Norman Schrott's numerous farewells. . . . All this and more contributed to many good times and to the success of Phi Alpha in their thirtieth year.

joyed, as was a good old cider party during the cold snap. . . . Decorations for the Founders' Day Banquet were carried out in the conventional cherry and gray.

Cadet Midshipman Jay Dodd and Bob Woodward returned from nine months South Pacific sea duty. . . . Lt. Bill Arnold wore the "California or Bust" sign in December. . . . Never to be forgotten by the TKE's were "Yogi" Gil Anderson's sleeping on fire escape. . . . Ted Allegri's broken arm . . . house parties . . . and the year 1944-45.

Founded at a time of crisis following the war between the states, Pi Kappa Alpha has survived one world war and is surviving another with prospects of a future brighter than ever before. . . . War was forgotten for one night at the Pi K A's Shipwreck Ball where Lorraine Siegrist was chosen queen of this tropical isle. . . . Other social highlights were the barn dance at Tim McCue's mansion and the alum meeting at the Fairfax Hotel.

From far and near. . . . Congressman John Sparkman, alumnus, spoke on his trip to the Western Front. . . . Lt. Ralph Fisher and Lt. Paul Van Hemert were wearing overseas ribbons. . . . From the land of the pyramids and sphinx came former chapter adviser Major Charles Dunne. . . . Wearing new silver eagles was Com. O'Hara. . . . Guarding German prisoners of war was Charles Earl Wallace who was always good on defenses. . . . The carrier pigeon brought news of Finley Goslin, now a pilot with Pan-American Airways.

Domestic troubles included a new cat named Basil. . . . There was a fight to see who should put him out at night. . . . The Pi K A's sent an SOS for a suitable couple for cooking and general housekeeping, having turned down coeds' eager offers. Yes, the Pi K A's are all right!

On October 5, 1943, eight honorably discharged servicemen attending the University organized the first student veterans group on a university campus. The purpose of this organization is to preserve the principles of liberty for which the veterans fought, to assume a share in the responsibility of preventing another war, and to gain a better understanding of the problems confronting them and all the people in the postwar world.

On July 28, 1944 the official opening of the "Vets" club house at 722 22nd Street, N. W. was attended by President Marvin, members of the faculty and Mr. McCammon, chief of Rehabilitation of the Division of the Veterans Administration.

During their first year on campus, the Vets increased their membership to sixty. Any honorably discharged veteran man or woman, of the United States Armed Forces or of those of the Allies is eligible for membership. . . . The Veterans have been active in intramurals, winning the 1944 Intramural Football Championship.

The first issue of their monthly bulletin "The Student Veterans Voice" was published in January. Highlight of their social activities was their first anniversary dance at the Willard Hotel, when Jane Moran was named "The Girl the Boys Come Home To" by the Student Veterans of World War II.

"So you want to be a sorority girl?" Your adviser and friend is the Panhellenic Association. The Council publishes a pamphlet listing the schedule of events for Rush Week and also makes and prints the complete rules and regulations governing rushing. This year the Council led by Gene Snyder helped two hundred and twenty-five rushees through the hectic week in the fall.

Not content with having only their annual spring dance, the Council recruited girls for USO dances and for tea dances at Fort Belvoir and Fort Mead. Pan-Hellenic also cooperated with COGS in publicizing drives through sorority representatives, and with the Interfraternity Council and Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity in raising funds for the children's Christmas party.

In these ways the Association fulfills its purposes which are to provide means for greater cooperation with the college administration in maintaining high social standards, and to coordinate the activities of the ten national sororities represented on the campus.

Unity and harmony among the pledge classes are stressed by the Junior Pan-Hellenic Council. Officers, governed by the same alternating plan used by the Pan-Hellenic Association, are chosen from representatives appointed by the sororities.

The first undertaking of the group this year was the annual pledge tea held in Columbian House. Long hours were spent by the council preparing for the Goat Show held in the Student Club December thirteenth. The admission to the show was a war stamp, which was in keeping with one of Junior Pan-Hellenic's projects—staffing the war stamp booth in the Student Club.

Cupid's arrow . . . activity darts . . . Venus' arrow . . . The Pi Phi's were struck by all of these this year. Hit by "activity dart" was Mary Ring Young, member of Mortar Board, Who's Who, and president of Pi Delta Epsilon. She also edited the "Cherry Tree" last year. "Have you bought your "Cherry Tree"? Liz Wells and Copy Editor Harriet Curry carried on Mary's interest in the yearbook.

Struck by Venus' darts was Mera Riddell, last year's May Queen and this year's winner of the all-American-girl-Queen of the Phi Sigs' Liberty Belle Ball, and a winner in the Veteran's Club "Girl the Boys Came Home to" contest . . . "Cherry Tree" candidate Pat Perry recruited Student Nurses . . . The Pi Phi's also did volunteer work at St. Anne's Orphanage and even took the children to the zoo one day. They pledged their blood 100 per cent, Nurses Aided, and rolled bandages . . . Scholastically the Pi Phi's led the campus and to keep their high average they initiated study hall for the pledges.

Making headlines and newsreels was Margaret Truman, daughter of the President and a favorite of not only the wearers of the wine and blue, but also the entire campus. Familiar sight was Anne Dabney and Margaret discussing politics or the merits of their Victorian literature course.

Although fortune telling by cards was a popular indoor sport, the Pi Phi's had their mothers in for tea, attended exchange dances with fraternities and entertained the pledges at Hotel 2400. For relaxation (??) they trekked down to the Naval Academy. Big events of the year were the naval weddings of Maryanne Worden and Betty Lee Wilson.

They are all true Pi Phi girls—wearers of the golden arrows!

The Chi O horseshoe was given an extra shine this fall and has been on the rampage ever since . . . The end of Rush Week saw a record-breaking pledge class, and campus queens such as the blonde and beautiful Mary Whittlesey and red-haired pledge Jane Moran have been in the news . . . "Whitt" followed her last year's honor of being chosen "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" by winning the "Cherry Tree" crown . . . At their First Anniversary Dance, the Veterans' Club chose Jane as "The Girl the Boys Came Home To" . . . A third lovely Chi O to bring home beauty honors is Bobbie Ames, second placer in Phi Sig's Liberty Belle contest.

Versatile as well as beautiful, the Chi O's have come through in other fields as well . . . Jean Cassanova was elected Vice-President of the Freshman Class . . . Anne Peterson is on the "Hatchet" board of editors, is Chairman of the Victory Service Drives for the Student Council and Vice-President of Student Bar Association.

The National Achievement Award, annually presented by Chi Omega to an outstanding woman, went this year to Dr. Florence B. Seibert, a biochemist, and was presented by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at the White House.

Their gay Pledge Prom at the Wardman Park . . . the Christmas party in the rooms . . . their regular holiday get-together at the 400 Club . . . their Fiftieth Anniversary Banquet in April at the Statler . . . the gala June house-party at Annapolis Roads . . . all were highspots on their 1945 social calendar, and never to be forgotten was the football game between the actives and pledges, with the actives showing their superiority.

The year is over, but around campus still floats the proud Chi O chant—"X and a horseshoe, Chi O!"

Fascinating, friendly and fun are the members of Sigma Kappa. They can cook, too, as the Phi Sigs can testify, having eaten a fried chicken dinner prepared by the Sigma Kappas . . . Their pledges inherited their talents, winning third place in the Goat Show with a new slant on "Christmas in the Dorm" . . . Stars of the prize-winning skit were Fiorenza Baldi and Judy Conklin.

Not just another Smith is the Student Council President. Lois is a member of Mortar Board, Who's Who, and has a Phi Beta Kappa key hidden away to boot. Editing the "Cherry Tree," heading the Westminster Foundation and member of Who's Who is Margaret Lynn. Also in the limelight is Juanita Hall, member of the "Hatchet" editorial board.

All the Sigma Kappas are deep in war work . . . Their national project is making scrapbooks for USO hospitals and convalescent homes . . . They also supply the Army and Navy centers with magazine subscriptions . . . With champion donor Eleanor Krieger around, they cannot forget their duty to give blood . . . All this is in addition to their COGS work and hostessing at the Stage Door Canteen.

Socially, the Sigma Kappas had pledge-actives "desserts" in the rooms before meeting . . . Sherwood Forest houseparties . . . week-ending outdoors or roughing it at Rockwood Manor . . . banquet and pledge formal at Roger Smith. She studies, she dates, she picnics, she's fun . . . Take sugar and spice and all things nice, mix well, and out come the AD Pi's. Well represented in everything from beauty contests to the war effort are the Alpha Delta Pi's . . . Proving that advertising pays, they used signs in their goat show skit, "The Little Snow Princess," and won second place. Nancy Hanck supplied talent for the show and also helped out in USO shows and on the "Hatchet."

The AD Pi's do not neglect the academic side of life, their shining example being Mary Beth Sheppard, Mortar Board President and member of Phi Beta Kappa . . . Sara Bohannon brought home two major honors—third place in the "Cherry Tree" beauty contest, and second in the Veterans' contest.

These girls were busier than many with their war work . . . Their pet project was the waste paper salvage drive, and they collected books for the Merchant Marine library . . . They owned private stock in an English war orphan, and packed Christmas boxes for the WAVES, and contributed to relief for China.

Exchange dinners and dances with the fraternities, parents and patronesses teas, an active-pledge weiner roast, and beach parties were all a part of the Alpha Delta Pi year . . . And the girls found time to redecorate their rooms!

The Delta Zeta roster of good times this year was frequent and fun. Summertime and easy living . . . formal initiation followed by brunch . . . apartment dances . . . Sundae parties on hot August days . . . a moonlight cruise for "Dizzies" and their dates . . . and a long, lazy week-end at Sherwood Forest. Vacation ended with a camp-fire picnic, forecasting fall and rushing.

October brought a Rose Banquet at the Lee Sheraton honoring the new pledges, prelude to the party at the Phi Sig house where Jini Nalls was applauded third-place winner in their national Liberty Belle contest. Jini, by the way, is also senior class president, head of COGS, a Mortar Board and Student Council member, and a four-star actress for Cue and Curtain. Another Student Counciler is Deedie Norris—she and prexy Carolyn Lyon own Phi Beta Kappa keys . . . and their list of Alpha Lambda Delta members is impressive—it includes Felicia Miller, Feature Editor of the "Cherry Tree" . . . Assistant Editor of the yearbook is DZ P. J. Switzer.

Delta Zeta social events were numerous . . . There was a Harvest Moon Ball at the Wardman Park, the Twelfth Night Progressive Party, an April Rose Ball, and exchange dinners with fraternities. Seems there's always something new up at the DZ penthouse, from those frequent five-pound boxes of candy to another Cherry Blossom award, to a song or a poem by Jo Forbes . . . All to keep the Lamp brilliantly aglow.

Step right this way and meet the Kappa Deltas of G. W. They strive to "promote true friendship among college girls through honor, beauty and truth."

In keeping with the true Christmas spirit, the KD's gave a party for seventeen needy children, complete with all the tinsel, lights, toys and food . . . They also had a slumber party in the rooms . . . On the formal side, we see the Kappa Deltas at their Black and White Ball in March.

Prexy Mary Jane Whittlesey was a good example for the pledges in activities . . . She wrote the Inside Track for the "Hatchet," was Co-Director of Buff 'n' Blue, and a member of COGS. Helen Zott also stressed war work and was business manager of COGS. All the pledges and actives gave blood, contributed to the Community War Fund, and held dances for servicemen. If you want to see beauties, you can't overlook "Cherry Tree" Queen candidate Virginia Allen or Veterans' "The Girl the Boys Came Back To" entry, Annabelle Mihealsick.

Yes, Sigma Mu chapter of Kappa Delta can proudly wear their colors, olive green and pearl white.

"The man without a country" had nothing on Phi Sigma Sigma, a sorority without a room . . . Much more has been done by the Phi Sigma Sigmas to help the war effort other than relinquishing their room . . . They helped furnish a sun room for the Red Cross, and contributed to their national Flora Albert Rucher Fund which provides shoes and glasses for needy children . . . They gave the proceeds from a party to the Infantile Paralysis fund.

Friendly Marion Perwin successfully presided over the sorority this year, one which the Phi Sigma Sigmas will never forget . . . They won first place in the Goat Show doing a take-off on Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado" . . . Adding that professional touch were Grace Feldman, Vivian Cohen and Shirley Gimbel singing "Three Little Maids from School" . . . Dot Wolf took the minutes for Student Council and occasionally took her pen to write for the "Hatchet" . . . Joan Gering played anything from Bach to boogie woogie . . . Phyllis Buxbaum won ribbons at the horse show . . . Sarah Muchnick kept track of pictures for the "Hatchet," and of yells for the informals.

On the social calendar was the Founders' Day dance at the Willard Hotel . . . Ada Hamburger had a get-together for actives and pledges . . . A gay dance was held for soldiers . . . Lillian Cohen added holiday spirit to the pledge party . . . The surprise party for "Sausie" with the Phi Alphas was very successful . . . These members of Kappa chapter are a credit to the twenty-one other groups throughout the country.

To keep up with this age of reconversion the Zeta Tau Alphas redecorated their rooms. Everything but the front door is new . . . Walking into Apartment 41 with its blonde furniture and its blue, gray and yellow color scheme is like walking into an ultra-modern Swedish apartment.

In cooperation with their national project, the Zetas did war work as a group . . . They donated their blood, they rolled bandages at Walsh House, they did hostess work at the USO, and every Thursday they visited the patients of Walter Reed . . . In addition they contributed to the National Organization which donated a $2,500 mobile unit to the Red Cross.

The glamour girls of the chapter were Mary Frances Edward, Inez Lester, and Virginia Jones. Scholastic honors were won by Spanish Club President Mary Bagby, owner of a Phi Beta Kappa key. The walking school calendar is Darhl Foreman, program chairman of the Student Council and Zeta's Pan-Hellenic representative.

"I'm sorry I can't go because the Zetas are having a party," is a familiar phrase because the Zetas love to have bridge, bowling and skating parties . . . To end the year with a restful and quiet week, they have the annual houseparty at Tall Timbers . . . Those social events which were in red letters on their calendar were the formal pledge banquet held at the Manor, the "slumberless" Christmas party in the rooms, and the spring formal. The alumnae played Santa Claus and gave the Zetas a holiday party and presented the chapter with a check to purchase more of those swish blonde divans . . . Whether in the Student Club, in class, in New York, or on the campus the Zeta shield is shining brightly.

The "contingent" of golden keys you saw walking down G Street were the Kappas, and where there's one, there are usually more. No, it's not self-defense . . . they just like each other!

Washington's crowded condition is no rumor according to room chairman Mickey Tolan when she tries to accommodate sixty-plus hungry pledge-actives every month . . . They also had to do things in shifts on their Ocean City house-party so the landlady wouldn't know that there were almost twenty in their house accommodating ten.

Dot Snyder, "Cherry Tree" business manager, is violent on the subject of activities, so the Kappas have used their keys to unlock many doors this year . . . Selected for "Who's Who," lovely Gerry Lock had presidential tasks of Cue and Curtain and chairmanship of War Activities for the Student Council . . . The girl with the budget in one hand and a "Cherry Tree" in the other and wearing the Women's Activity Building sign is Elaine Smith . . . Activity pals are Bertie Stamm and Polly Peterson who discuss Big Sisters and Phi Pi Epsilon, across the "Hatchet" desk . . . "Have you given your blood" is Flo Williams, chairman of the blood-donor campaign.

In the "lovely to look at" corner are sitting a "Cherry Tree" beauty, Lucile Flanagan, and Lorraine Seegrist, Queen of the Shipwreck Ball. Fond memories are the slumber party in the rooms, the Founders' Day Banquet, the Mothers' Daughters' Tea, and the pledge formal at the Shoreham. To have and to hold are the "Cherry Tree" Subscription contest cup, the Community War Fund drive and the blue and blue traditions.

From Maine to California you can find Phi Mu's with the same standards of loyalty, friendship, honor and fun.

The Phi Mu's here have four major projects: a health mobile, which is a clinic on wheels, a state-wide nutritional service in Georgia, an annual scholarship to Georgia Wesleyan, Phi Mu's birthplace, and for their own members, a loan fund for upper-classmen in colleges where Phi Mu chapters are located.

Leading their activities' parade is Gene Snyder, member of Student Life Committee and Motor Board. She also adds her executive abilities to Panhellenic Council, sitting in the President's chair. Following Gene is Society Editor Alice Rebert, who in addition to her "Hatchet" duties is social chairman for Student Council and a member of the Student Life Committee.

On the lighter side the Phi Mu's have mixed work with play—a houseparty at Joan Dorman's cottage on Herald Harbor ended the term, and Gene Snyder opened her home in Martinsburg, West Virginia, to start off a new term with a week-end to remember. . . . On the home front they gave John and Priscilla Alden and Sadie Hawkins Day parties. . . . A pledge banquet supplanted the traditional preferential banquet. . . . The annual Christmas party with the alumnae and the Delta Gamma chapter of American University were big successes also. . . . The scrapbook closed upon a happy Phi Mu year when the lassies went "native" with a picnic—complete with open fireplace and all—in Rock Creek Park.

Make way! Here comes the Colonial Campus Club in a fanfare of glory. . . . Under the guiding hand of President Emma Montgomery the Tri-Cs lived up to their award for outstanding service in Cue and Curtain and continued to take other honors. . . . Mixing paints and brains we find Barbara Ringer who was elected to Phi Beta Kappa this year. . . . The cute blonde who is always smiling is Anne Thaler who can be found attending Student Council meetings or planning a carnival or dance with the freshmen. . . . If you have a book to sell see Edwina Rothgeb, Co-Director of the Book Exchange.

The Tri-Cs did not lack social life either—Maybelle Hughes gave a supper party for the seven new pledges. . . . The party for Ketty Bruffey Krausman was great fun. . . . The purchase of a bond for her baby was applauded. . . . These are a few of the memories of the Colonial Campus Club.

In December, 1943, the Women's Activities Adviser selected six girls from the freshman class to discuss the problem of the increasing number of unaffiliated girls on the campus. The result of the conference was the founding of Themian which was approved by the Student Life Committee in March, 1944. A local social sorority, Themian was designed to promote friendship and an interest in school activities in a group of congenial girls. Themis, the ancient Greek goddess, who personified law and order, is the basis of the club's name.

In addition to miscellaneous buffet suppers, rush teas, and chocolate parties, some of which were held in the sorority's suite in Building K, the girls have had several outstanding gatherings. In May, 1944 the first annual banquet and initiation of officers was held. The following October, Dr. Katherine Adams was formally installed as the faculty adviser.

The "Hatchet" is beginning its forty-first year as the official campus newspaper. In the Spring of 1944 it was one of the six college newspapers in the country to receive the All-American Pacemaker Award of the Associated Collegiate Press. Published weekly from October through May, membership on the "Hatchet" staff is open to all students of the university. First-year members who constitute the junior staff are promoted to the senior staff their second year and appointments to the sub-editorial board are made by the Board of Editors. Recommendations for the Board of Editors are made by the outgoing editors to the Publications Committee whose appointments are confirmed by the President of the University.

To publish a yearbook of which the University would be proud was our aim. To do this, each staff had its specific job to do, and its deadline to meet, and the 1945 "Cherry Tree" is the result. It is a bit new, but we hope you like it.

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON LAW REVIEW

Published Quarterly by the University and edited by the faculty and students of the Law School.

The "Review" is devoted exclusively to states and federal public law. The Student Editors are chosen each year from those students who have attained either senior or junior standing in their work for the degree in law, with an average grade of "B" or higher.

Under the enthusiastic leadership of Dr. Robert Howe Harmon the University Glee Clubs presented their traditional programs and several new ones.

On November 17th the Glee Clubs collaborated with Cue and Curtain in their presentation of "And The Home Of The Brave." A quartet rendered a medley of the Stephen Foster airs in the first act, and in the finale the entire personnel of both groups sang the stirring "Ballad for Americans" as a panorama of America passed in review.

The Christmas cantata, Hawley's "The Christ Child" was presented for the Alumni Association on December twentieth in Lisner Auditorium. The cantata was also sung at the Western Presbyterian Church and at the Young Women's Christian Association. Other appearances of the Glee Club during the Christmas season included performances for the patients at Walter Reed and Forest Glen and for the lighting of the campus Christmas tree.

Glee Club members again added their talents to those of the Thespians when the Jerome Kern musical "Roberta" was presented in March. Throughout the year many of the Glee Club members enjoyed their traditional after-performance celebrations complete with waffles and song, at the Childs Restaurant on New York Avenue. The annual spring concert was planned for presentation in Lisner Auditorium as a fitting climax to an active year.

This year was an important one in the history of Cue and Curtain because the new Lisner Auditorium was for the first time the scene of its productions. "... And the Home of the Brave" opened the dramatic season in November, and was followed a month later by "Night Must Fall," a psychological murder story. In March the musical show "Roberta" was presented, and the season closed in April with an historical drama.

Through the Cue and Curtain Artist Bureau, talent was supplied for school functions such as Buff 'n' Blues and assemblies, for many private Washington affairs, for the hospitals, the USO, and the Stage Door Canteen. Within Cue and Curtain, workshop plays were produced, directed, and written by the students. These plays, staged with a minimum of scenery and costumes, were designed to train the members in all phases of drama.

Other highlights of the year to the thespians were the talk by Sam Pearce of the Theater Guild on "The Cherry Orchard", and the traditional spring banquet. At the latter, awards were announced, and plans were laid for the increasing progress of Cue and Curtain.

A most significant phase of this year's activity was the broadening of our working scope to include collaboration with Cue and Curtain in two of its major productions. Appearances on the programs of special events at the University continued throughout the year. At times Orchesis was on the other side of the foot lights getting inspiration from the great artists in the field of Dance. An outstanding occasion was the Martha Graham Concert for the Tenth Festival of Chamber Music at the Library of Congress at which performance Orchesis members were guests. The Dance Concert this year was presented in Lisner Auditorium. An increase in Dance consciousness among the student body has been reflected in a continued growth in membership from one group to three large working groups.

Sigma Chi football team, Interfraternity champions. . . . Veterans vs. Sigma Chis. . . .
Lloyd Price, winner of the Touchdown trophy.

Intramural sports at G. W. U. gained prestige by leaps and bounds during 1944 as six teams put on gridiron exhibitions which were thrilling and exciting to the crowd of onlookers who attended the games. After going through the regular season with a record of five wins and no losses, and with an unbelievable record of never having been scored against and having only two first downs chalked up against them, the Sigma Chi Fraternity team bowed down in the Championship fray to a fighting-mad and once-defeated Veterans' Club gridiron aggregation, 12-0.

Third place in the league went to Phi Alpha and Sigma Alpha Epsilon who ended in a deadlock, with two wins, two losses and one tie.

For the first time in the history of the University an all-star, all-league team was picked. Players were chosen by the captain of each team in the league and the two league officials. The two top teams, Sigma Chi and the Vets, ran off with eight places, Sigma Chi placing five men and the Veterans' Club, three. Phi Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Alpha each placed one man to round out the team.

Even bigger doings were expected in the ten team intramural basketball league which was formed at the close of the gridiron season.

With four fraternity teams, four teams from the medical school, one team from the school of pharmacy and the Veterans' Club, the intramural outlook for basketball was a very bright one. On the basis of the ten games already played in the league it looked as if the battle for the basketball trophy would fall into the hands of one of the teams from the medical school, or the veteran pharmacy team, which numbers on its roster four members from last year's championship Bomber quintet.

The sport which has received the greatest impetus since the beginning of the war has been boxing. Under the close and careful instruction of George "Doc" Lentz, university trainer, the boxing tournament last year proved to be not only the best attraction of the year, but also ended as the major spectator sport at the University with over 500 people attending last year's tournament. With the outlook bright for a varsity boxing team after the war, "Doc" Lentz has whipped up an even better concoction of pugilists for this year. The tournament was scheduled for the early April.

In a short, late-spring round-robin last year, the medical school walked off with the intramural baseball championship, as they defeated the Sea-Bee team 8-2.

THAT OLD FIGHTING SPIRIT

Biggest news of the year came when Lloyd Price, Sigma Chi athlete, won the Touchdown Club Award given annually to the outstanding intramural player at the University. Price was judged winner on the basis of his athletic prowess and organizing ability.

The Physical Education Department stated that if possible every major and minor sport will be attempted at the University as part of the Intramural Program. Only basketball and football and boxing have definitely been scheduled but ping-pong, badminton, handball, and possibly swimming may be included in the intramural set-up.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

BETTY JUNE KARLE

Under the leadership of Betty June Karle, the Women's Athletic Association began its Fall season with a square dance party in October. A group from Orchesis performed and the organization and purpose of W.A.A. were explained to the newcomers by the President. The executive boards, made up of officers elected by the W.A.A. members and sports managers elected by the classes, met weekly to plan the association's activities. This year the membership, open to girls who have received at least seventy-five points for participating in a team or individual sport, or dance, reached a total of 165. General association activities include monthly meetings and the Fall and Spring banquets. A Winter Award Banquet was held December 16 in the Student Club. Through the War Activities group, GVAROS, the association sponsored Red Cross blood donor drives. Each year at the spring banquet the two outstanding athletes and the outstanding member are presented with awards.

INTER-SORORITY ATHLETIC BOARD

The purpose of the Inter-Sorority Athletic Board, which is made up of one delegate and her alternate from each sorority, is to promote inter-sorority sports and to encourage friendly rivalry between the groups by sponsoring at least five tournaments a year in such sports as volley ball, bowling, badminton, basketball and swimming. Each sorority sponsors a tournament and at the end of the year a cup is presented to the sorority which has accumulated the most points during the year.

CLASSES

The Women's Physical Education staff—Miss Atwell, Miss Lawrence, Miss Burtner, Mrs. Woodson, Mrs. Deane, Mrs. Craig, Miss Taylor and Mrs. Poorman—directed the sports classes. In soccer the upperclass teams were victorious in all their games and at the Hood College Field Day the two George Washington teams upheld past tradition by winning both games. Tennis enthusiasts found a chance for competition in the singles tournament held in the fall and the doubles tournament held in the spring. Several players represented G. W. at the annual meet with Hood College.

During the hockey season games were played with the Washington Field Hockey Association, Trinity College and Hood College. George Washington teams chalked up an equal number of wins and losses in these competitions, Jeanne

W O M E N ' S

Read being the outstanding player. The riding season was climaxed by a Riding Show held at the Rock Creek Park Stables with events for both beginning and advanced riders. Winners were Phyllis Buxbaum, Frances Cogswell and Elinor Erickson.

Driven inside by cold weather, winter sports took over in December, basketball having the largest turnout. Many players were outstanding—Betty June Karle and Lorna Grayson in the senior class; Jeanne Read, Molly Edwards and Elaine Smith, juniors; Barbara Sauber and Ruth Fleischman, sophomores; Kitty Killeen and Lynn Harpster, freshmen. Badminton and volley ball gained the spotlight in February when tournaments were held in both sports.

Spring brought softball and swimming into the sports program. After class games an honorary softball varsity was chosen. The annual swimming meet was held at the Y. W. C. A. with the diving, racing and novelty events. Katharine Prentiss and Mary Miller were again the outstanding swimmers.

The Fencing Club and the Rifle Club remained active this year, offering coaching to students interested in activities not taught in the regular sports program. For the first time in many years, a swimming club was organized for girls who wished to swim before the spring season opened. Under the direction of Mrs. Woodson and Mary Miller, the club met once a week at the Y. W. C. A. pool to practice rhythmic and group swimming.

C O G S

The College Organization for General Service, founded at Duke University, was organized at the George Washington University this year under the auspices of its Student Council. As the name implies, COGS is not just a war activities organization, but it is a general service organization which after the war will find its main work in social service and rehabilitation. At present COGS emphasizes war work including bandaging, sponsored by Big Sisters, blood donor work sponsored by Kappa Kappa Gamma and the International Students Society; paper salvage drives sponsored by Alpha Delta Pi; dances at officers' clubs and USO's under the leadership of Robin Metz; and Stationery Night sponsored by Delta Zeta. Publicity is provided by Kappa Delta. Membership in COGS is open to any woman student who has earned thirty points by work in the various activities.

The Student Nurses Unit, although working independently under its president, Pat Perry, is considered a part of the COGS. Organized to aid in the shortage of nurses at the George Washington University Hospital, the Student Nurses undergo a six weeks training period, and after passing an examination, are awarded their G.W.U. insignia. A minimum of three hours a week of work in the wards and kitchen is required of these aides to maintain their membership.

RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

The University Chapel is maintained as a non-sectarian expression of the faith of the University in the contribution that religion can make to the education of its students. Twenty-minute services, presided over by students, are held Friday of each week at 12:10 p. m. in Columbian House. The Chapel Committee plans the programs with the help of Dr. Burnice H. Jarman, Director of Religious Activities.

The Council of Religious Organizations is formed by the presidents or delegated representatives of seven religious organizations on campus: Baptist Student Union, Canterbury Club, Christian Science Organization, Hillel Counselorship, Luther Club, Wesley Club, and Westminster Foundation. To promote interest in religious activities and to stimulate coordination among the various groups, the Council annually sponsors a fall and spring fellowship.

In 1944, the Council donated over five hundred dollars received from the various groups to the William Allen Wilbur Library Fund. This fund is used to purchase religious books selected by a committee including the Librarian, and the adviser and president of the Religious Council.

Hillel Counselorship sponsors social, cultural educational and religious activities for Jewish students. The membership, under the direction of the Executive Council, is striving to maintain a program of activities that will warrant the establishment of a full foundation with a chapter home and resident adviser. The original Hillel Foundation was founded at the University of Illinois in 1923, and now has 118 active chapters.

This year's activities of the Counselorship included weekly meetings held in Columbian House each Tuesday at 9 p. m., weekly Hebrew language classes, a splash party and dances. Films, speakers, discussions and song fetes constituted the programs of the weekly meetings.

"Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." —II Timothy 2:15.

The Christian Science Organization organized at The George Washington University, founded in 1931 and composed of students and faculty members interested in Christian Science, is one of the sixty-six similar organizations in universities in the United States, England, and Canada. The aim of the group is to aid University students in obtaining a more comprehensive understanding of education and service, and in attaining greater spiritual development through the study and application of this science in all University activities.

Regular meetings are held in Columbian House each month on the first and third Thursdays at 5:15 p. m.

Authorized Christian Science periodicals, including the international daily newspaper, "The Christian Science Monitor," are maintained by the Organization in the Periodical Room of the Library. The annual Reception, open to all students and faculty members, was held October 22, 1944 and was addressed by Mr. Neal Stanford, staff member of "The Christian Science Monitor". A free lecture on Christian Science was given by Mr. Earl McCloud, C.S.B., member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, on April 14, 1945.

Seeking deeper Christian faith through Bible study, discussions, prayer, and fellowship, Presbyterian students and students of other denominations who share common religious interests united to form the Westminster Club, which, in 1943 became the Westminster Foundation. This year the Foundation was organized in four commissions: Faith and Life, Christian Outreach, Stewardship, and Christian Fellowship. The function of a commission is to plan devotional and social meetings, to contact new students, and to formulate the policies which guide the Foundation.

Meetings were held weekly at 8:15 p. m. Wednesdays and 3 p. m. Fridays in Columbian House. The Wednesday Meetings were devoted to the study of the Old Testament and Galatians. Topics of interest, such as "A Christian Peace" and "The Meaning of Worship" were also discussed. Friday discussions concern problems and interests of the members.

Members* engaged in several kinds of social work; some gave time for reading to the blind; others collected clothes for the Russian war relief; and others made Christmas toys for crippled children in Gallinger Hospital. Several students attended a class in social settlement work.

Because the Foundation's religious view includes every phase of life it also enjoyed many social activities. Three retreats were held at Rockwood Manor near the Potomac River during the school year. Chopping wood, hiking, and loafing took up much of the time. Morning services were held with guest speakers delivering the talks: Rev. C. Stewart McKenzie, pastor of Western Presbyterian Church, spoke at the first retreat; Rev. William Gleysteen, missionary from China spoke on "Christian Outreach among China's students," and Rev. James Albertson, pastor of Bethesda Presbyterian Church spoke on "The unique duties of a Christian student". Evening vespers were conducted outdoors around a fire. There was a canoe party early in the Fall. Most of the parties were held in Recreation Hall. For example, a costume party was given at Hallowe'en with games, the traditional ducking for apples, and plenty of cider and donuts for refreshments. Jimmy Huddleston told one of Poe's stories which fitted the occasion. Other parties included a square dance, and several get-togethers in students' homes.
